- DINNER SERVICE -

His Excellency
XI JINPING

President
People's Republic of China

Xi Jinping is president of the People's Republic of China, having been confirmed in that position in March 2013. He is also general secretary of the 18th Central Committee of the Communist Party of China (CPC); a member of the Standing Committee of the Political Bureau of the CPC Central Committee; and chairman of the Central Military Commission.

Xi Jinping, born in 1953, is from Fuping County, Shaanxi Province. He entered the workforce in 1969 and joined the CPC in 1974 while in Yanchuan in northern Shaanxi, and became Party branch secretary a year later.

Xi attended Tsinghua University in Beijing to study chemical engineering and graduated in 1979. He later obtained a degree in Marxist theory and ideological education from the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at Tsinghua, as well as an LLD, both through postgraduate education programs.

In 1979, Xi was named secretary of the General Office of the State Council and the General Office of the Central Military Commission; three years later he became deputy secretary of the CPC Zhengding County Committee in Hebei Province.

From 1985 to 2002, Xi held a variety of posts in Fujian Province, culminating in the governorship in 2000. He became secretary of the CPC Zhejiang Provincial Committee and acting governor of Zhejiang Province in 2002. One year later, he was named chair of the Standing Committee of the Zhejiang Provincial People's Congress. In 2007, he became secretary of the CPC Shanghai Municipal Committee and a member of the Standing Committee of the Political Bureau of the CPC Central Committee, as well as a member of the Secretariat of the CPC Central Committee. He was also named president of the Party School under the CPC Central Committee.

Xi was elected vice president of the People's Republic of China at the first session of the 11th National People's Congress in 2008 and in 2010 became vice chair of the Central Military Commission.

Xi Jinping has visited the United States several times, beginning in 1985 with a trip to Iowa. He paid an official visit to the United States in 2012 as vice president of the People's Republic of China. In June 2013, President Xi had a summit meeting with President Obama at Sunnylands, the Annenberg estate in California. In November 2014, the two presidents met again at Yingtai, in the Zhongnanhai compound in Beijing.
